

STUDY PLANS:

In relation to this point, the University of Santiago de Compostela currently states the following formative enforced offer that includes themes linked to some of the fields mentioned:

1. Degrees and permanent training:

- Master in International Planning, local development and organization of African territory
- Master in Management and Communication of the Social Business Responsibility
- Master of Environmental Project Management and the Social Corporate Responsibility
- Specialized course in Analysis, planning and territorial strategy in a globalized world
- Specialized course: Introduction to gender and culture studies for local development

2. Official Graduate Programs:

- Official Master in International Studies
- Official Master in Education, Cultural Diversity and Community Development Research

3. Graduate Studies:

Throughout our plans of study we have diverse subjects that work directly to focus on human rights, gender equality, poverty and development, promotion of the environment, etc. We have the following subjects:

- History of the Process of Globalization
- International Politics
- Spanish Foreign Policy
- International Relations
- Economic Development and Sustainability
- Development and Sustainability Theory
- Socio-educational Politics and Human Rights
- Environmental education and Culture of Sustainability
- Gender and Social Work
- Social Work and Social Inclusion
- Social Work, Immigration Processes, and Cultural Diversity
- Inequality and Cooperation for Development
- Ordering of Territory and Development Projects
- Ecology and Environmental Impact